In 1998 during the war with Eritrea (May 6th, 1998 - June 18th, 2000), Ethiopia bought from the Russian company Rosvoorouzhenie, six SU-27 and two SU-27UB for a total of $150 Million USD.
Deliveries were done during December 1999. A Su-27UB crashed during a demonstration, but it was replaced a few days later.
For June 2021, Ethiopia still had six Su-27 active.

The SU-30MKM is a variant of the Su-30MKI, made for the requirements of the Royal Malaysian Air Force. Malaysia ordered 18 SU-30MKM in 2003. The first two arrived in May 23rd, 2007, and deliveries concluded in 2014.

Around 2018, due engine problems and the lack of spare parts, 14 of the 18 SU-30MKM were grounded, and a local refurbishment program begun. The first upgraded SU-30MKM was showed in the 15th edition of the Langkawi International Maritime and Aerospace exhibition in 2019.

M52-18 is the only Malaysian SU-30MKM that in photographic evidence, shows names of different pilots and/or nicknames in different years.

It is possible that M52-18 was one of the only four SU-30MKM able to perform service before the refurbishment program, and because of that, it has been operated for different pilots during the years.

After its independence of the Soviet Union in 1991, Belarus inherited 23 Sukhoi Su-27 from the former 61st Fighter Aviation Regiment of the Soviet Union.

In December 2012, all Belarusian Su-27 were retired from service but is possible that until June 2021 there is still one active.

1 Sukhoi Su-30MK2 0564 Bolivarian National Air Force of Venezuela

Colors: FS 36495 for light gray spots; FS 36622 for medium gray spots; FS 36118 for dark gray spots; FS 36559 for underside; White for nose and white fins' elements; Aluminum for aluminum elements.
Note: All Venezuelan Sukhoi Su-30MK2 are painted in the same exact color scheme.

Decals: Flag on two positions; Triangle badge in two positions, Lion badge in two positions (fins' inner); 0564 in two positions; Roundels over left wing and under right wing; AMBV over right wing and under right wing.

Notes: 1) Apparently only A/C 0564 wore the Lion badge.

2) Most of Venezuelan Su-30MK2 wore their serial number on fin, unless fin had a decoration, in that case the s/n is located under cockpit.

3) Is unknown when A/C 0564 had this configuration, so is possible it had it for just a short period of time.

4) Photographic evidence shows Venezuelan Su-30MK2 wearing decals AMBV and AMV, is possible the AMBV decal has been wore after 2008 (year the Venezuelan Air Force changed its name to the current Bolivarian National Air Force of Venezuela), so check your references.
