

Sherman IC Hybrid Firefly "SAINT MICHAEL", 22nd Armoured Brigade, 5th Inniskilling Dragoon Guards, B Squadron, Normandy, 1944.

Sherman VC Firefly, 8th Armoured Brigade, 24th Lancers, A Squadron, Normandy, August 8th, 1944.

NOTE: The markings on the front of the tank were apposed on a storage box, frequently seen on the back of British tanks.

NOTE: Les marquages à l'avant du char étaient peints sur une caisse à équipements, similaires à celles souvent vues à l'arrière des chars Britanniques.

SOURCE: New Vanguard N°141, Sherman Firefly, p.33.

NOTE: The tank was striped of its sandshields.

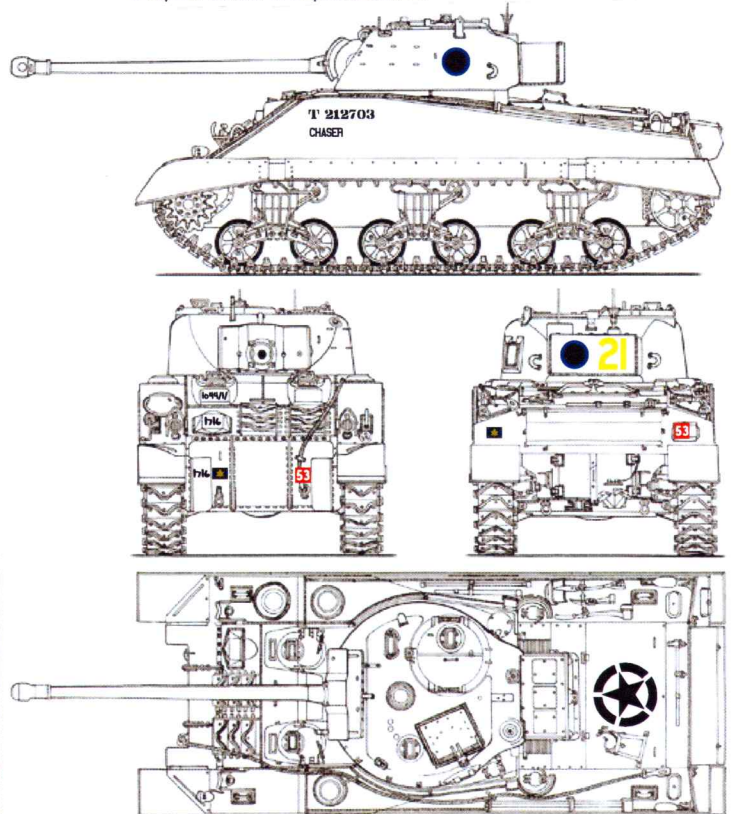

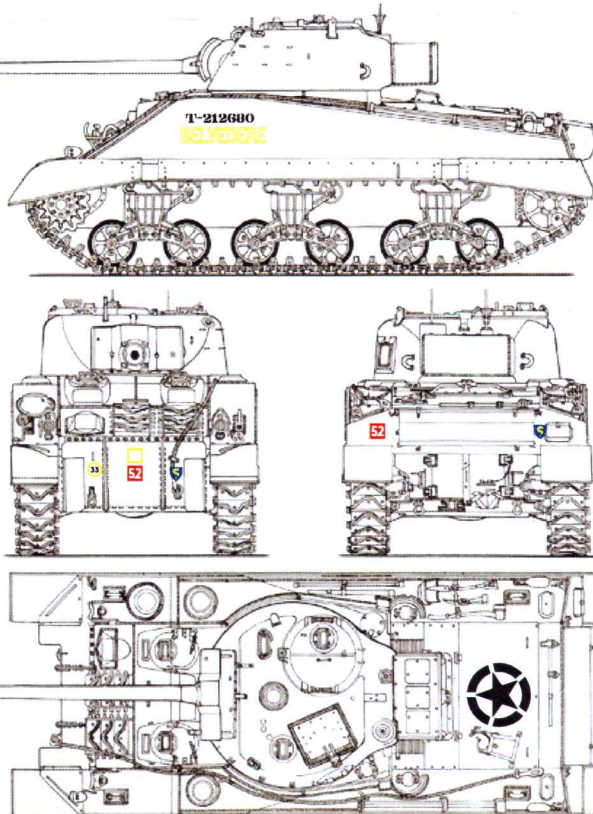

NOTE: Ce char était dépourvu de jupes latérales de protection.

SOURCE: New Vanguard N°141, Sherman Firefly, p.33.

Sherman VC Firefly, "BELVEDERE" 27th Armoured Brigade, Staffordshire Yeomanry Regiment, B Squadron, Normandy, June, 1944.

Sherman VC Firefly, "CHASER" 2nd Canadian Armoured Brigade, 27th Armoured Regiment Sherbrooke Fusilier Regiment, C Squadron, Normandy, June, 1944.

Braille Strike 72056
Sherman Fireflies (2)

NOTE: The tank was striped of its sandshields and camouflaged with a sand color.
NOTE: Ce char était dépourvu de jupes latérales de protection et camouflé avec de la peinture couleur sable.
SOURCE: <http://steeltankpower.blogspot.com/2015/01/british-sherman-vc-firefly-wip4.html>

NOTE: The tank was striped of its sandshields. The presence of the red square with number 53 is uncertain
NOTE: Ce char était dépourvu de jupes latérales de protection. La présence du carré rouge avec le 53 est incertaine.
SOURCE: <http://www.mapleleafup.net/forums/showthread.php?t=28282&highlight=chaser>

WARNING: For illustration purpose only. For pictures of the actual vehicles, please consult the sources.