

Boeing delivered the first 787-9 Dreamliner for Qantas on Oct 17, during a ceremony at the Boeing factory in Everett, Washington. The airplane — named Great Southern Land and painted in the carrier's recently updated livery — is the first of eight Dreamliners scheduled to be delivered to Qantas by the end of 2018 and will be used on the carrier's route from Los Angeles to Melbourne, Australia, beginning on Dec. 15, 2017.

LIMITED EDITION

Apply White kangaroo decal first, once set and dry place decals A,B & C.

The 'Qantas 100' 787 Dreamliner painted in a special livery commemorating Qantas' upcoming centenary. VH-ZNJ 'Longreach', the airline's 10th 787, features a celebratory 'Qantas 100' imprint and each Qantas logo since the airline's founding in 1920 as Queensland and Northern Territories Aerial Services.

READ BEFORE USE

Laser decals are printed on a continuous decal sheet, subjects must be therefore be trimmed off individually. Laser printed decals are translucent and must be applied over white or light surfaces, once applied on the surface they will look sharp. Clear coating before/after is not mandatory but neither a bad idea. This decal is compatible with most decal solvents in the market.
